

Q1. What should be the top policy priorities this coming year for the Federal Government? (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude a priority from your response)

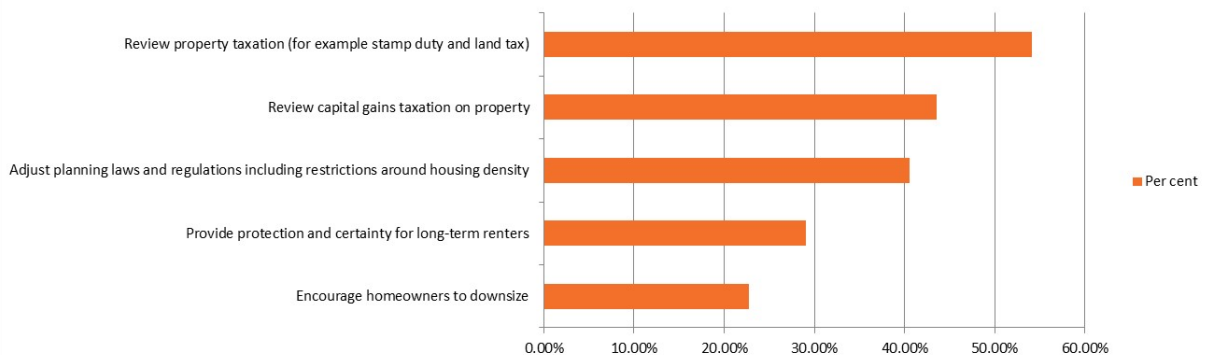

Housing affordability

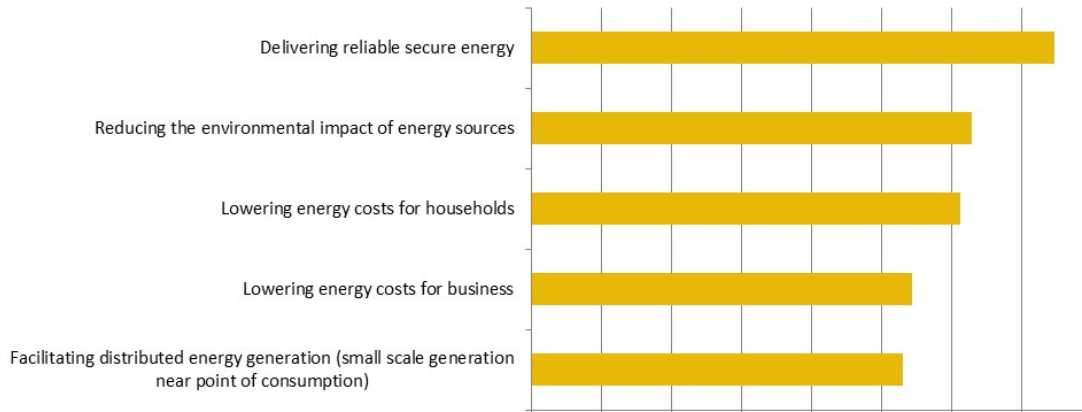

Q2. How important is it for government to address this issue?

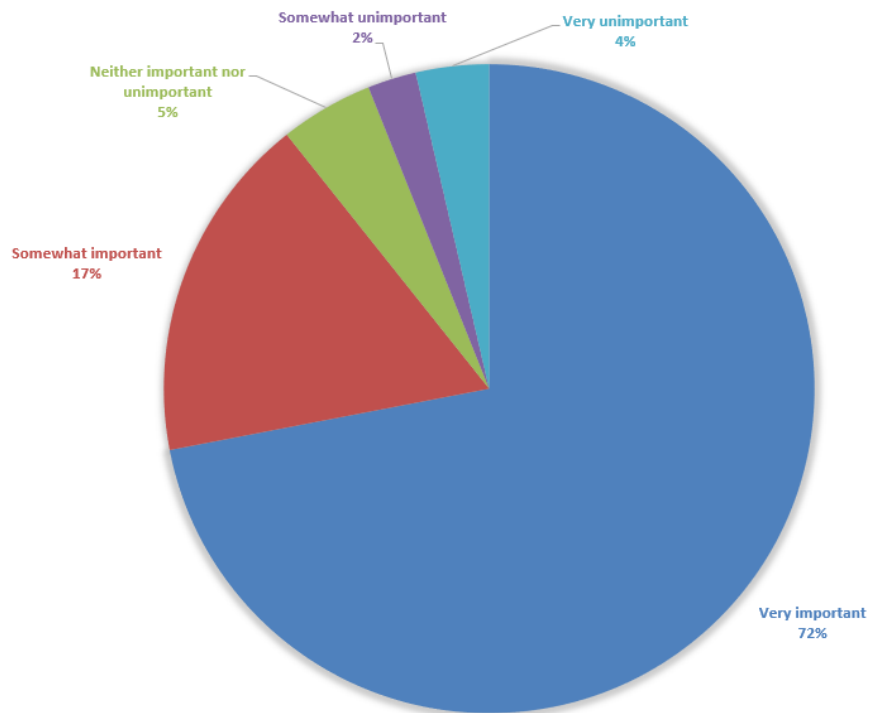

Q.3 If you answered somewhat/very important, what is the best option/s to address housing affordability? (You may select more than one option)

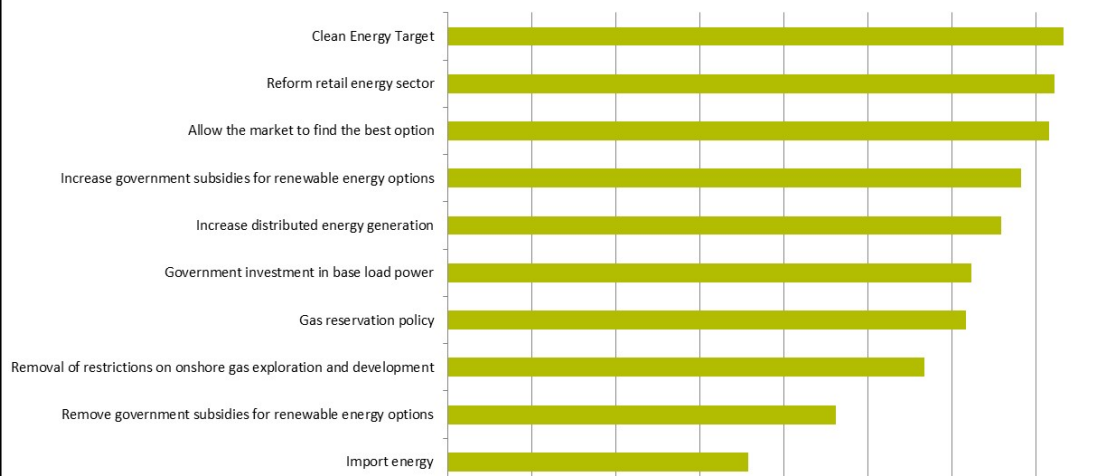

Q4. What is most important:(Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude an option from your response)

How important is it to generate energy from sources other than coal?

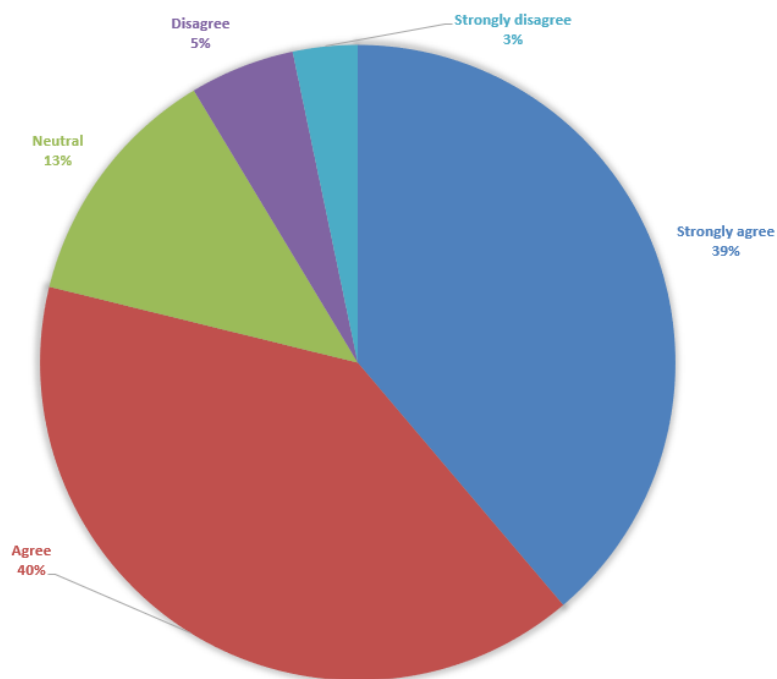

Q6. What energy policies should government pursue?(Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude a policy from your response)

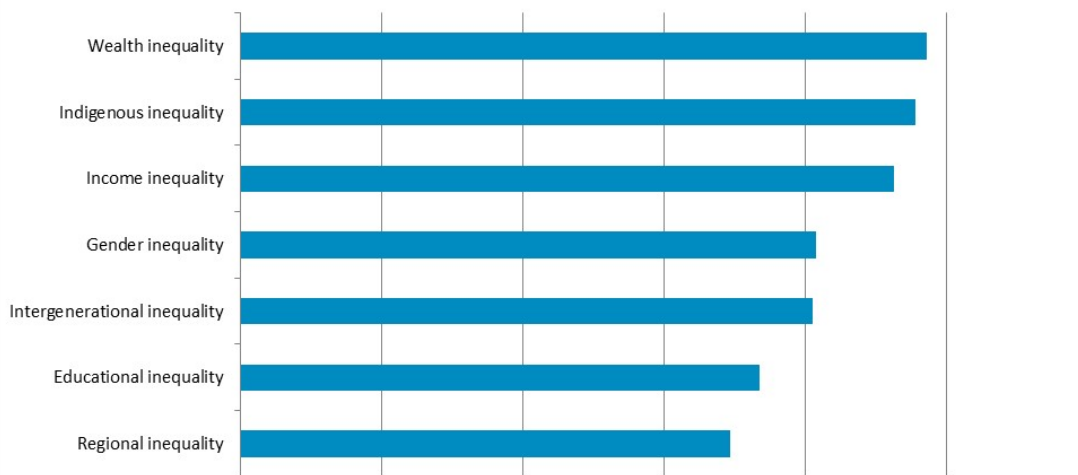

Inequality

Q7. Do you think inequality is an issue in Australia?

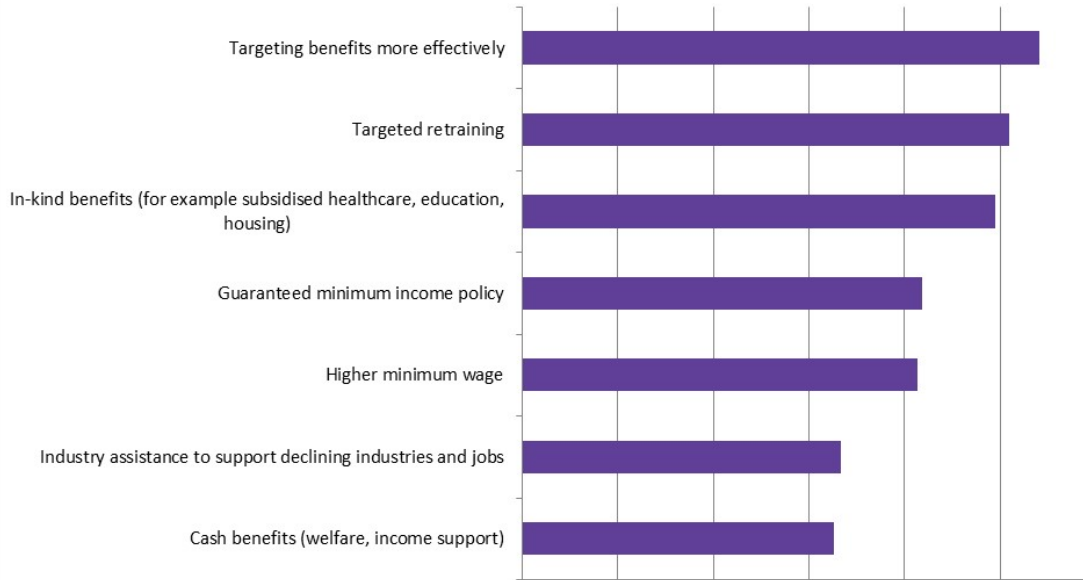

8. If you answered agree or strongly agree, what are the most pressing inequality issues in Australia? (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude an option from your response)

Inequality

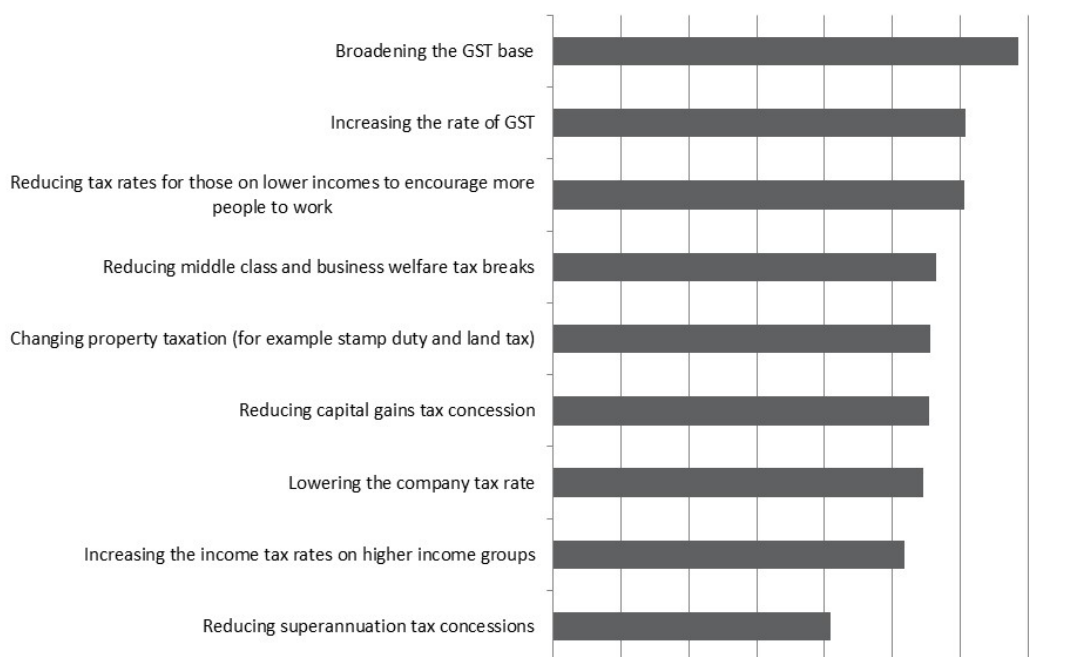

Q9. To the extent there is inequality, please rank the following policies in order of importance to address this issue. (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude a policy from your response)

Q10. Other policies to address this issue – see separate comments document

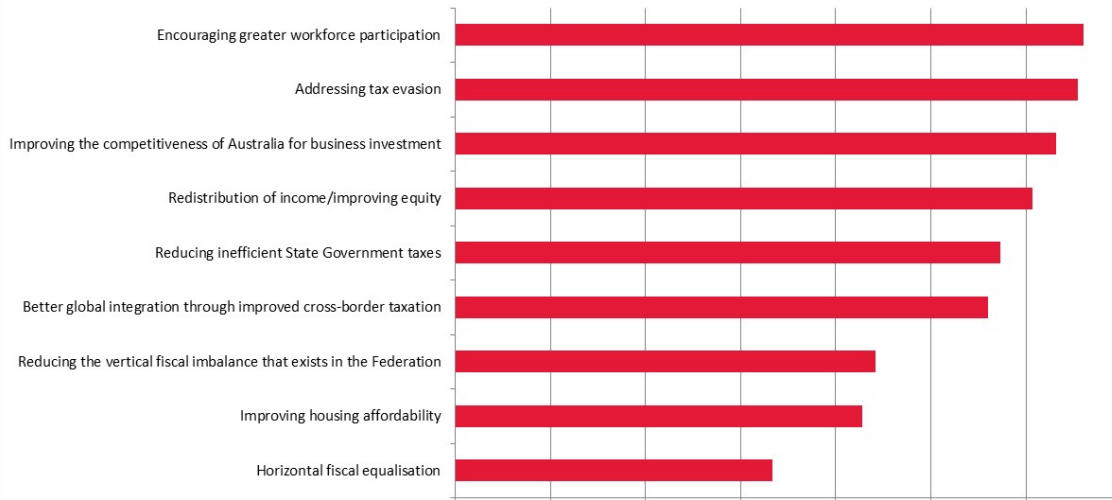

Taxation policy

Q11. If tax reform is undertaken, what should the priorities be? (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude a priority from your response)

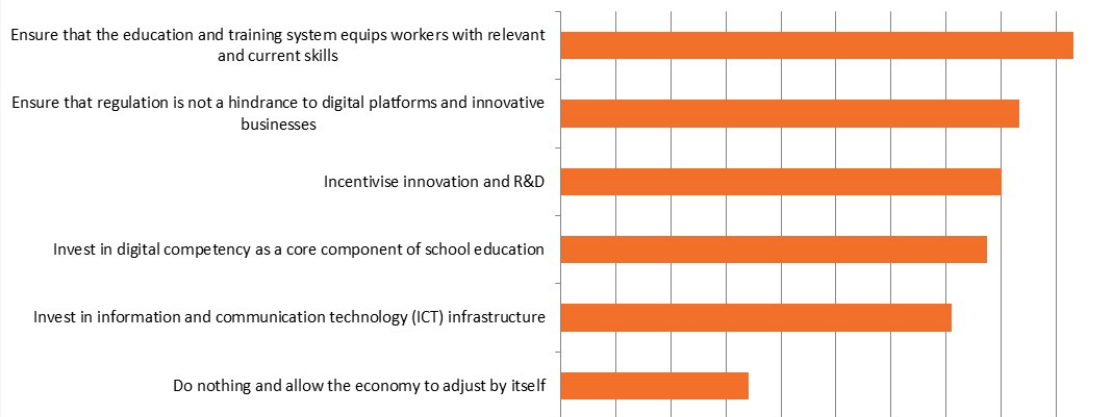

Taxation policy

Q12. What should be the aim of reforming the tax system? (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude a priority from your response)

Disruption

Q13. How should the government respond to disruption and the fourth industrial revolution? (Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude an option from your response)

International competitiveness

Q14. What is most important for Australia to improve its international competitiveness?(Please rank in order of importance, 1 being most important. Click N/A to exclude an option from your response)

